

Linux: Future Of ReiserFS Development

By srlinuxx

Created 12/10/2006 - 7:15pm

Submitted by srlinuxx on Thursday 12th of October 2006 07:15:33 PM Filed under Reiser [1]

With Namesys founder Hans Reiser recently arrested as the prime suspect in the disappearance of his estranged wife, a brief thread on the lkml discussed the future of ReiserFS. Alan Cox pointed out that, "reiserfs is written by a team of people at Namesys, and particularly with reiserfs3 people at SuSE and elsewhere as well."

Alexander Lyamin, listed on the Namesys website as their "hostmaster and sysadmin", noted that the team was "rather shaken and stressed at the moment". He confirmed that ReiserFS 3.6 is currently in maintenance mode, then continued to discuss Reiser4, "we are still going through revisions, thanks to [Andrew Morton]."

Full Story [2].

Reiser

Source URL: <http://www.tuxmachines.org/node/10195>

Links:

[1] <http://www.tuxmachines.org/taxonomy/term/124>

[2] <http://kerneltrap.org/node/7211>