

In Memoriam: Robin "Roblimo" Miller, a Videographer and Free Software Champion

By Roy Schestowitz

Created 25/05/2018 - 6:01am

Submitted by Roy Schestowitz on Friday 25th of May 2018 06:01:58 AM Filed under Just talk [1]

Robin "Roblimo" Miller was a clever, friendly, and very amicable individual who everyone I know has plenty of positive things to say about. I had the pleasure of speaking to him for several hours about anything from personal life and professional views. Miller was a very knowledgeable person whose trade as a journalist [2] and video producer [3] I often envied. I have seen him facing his critics in his capacity as a journalist over a decade ago when he arranged a debate about OOXML (on live radio). Miller, to me, will always be remembered as a strong-minded and investigative journalist who "did the right thing" as the cliché goes [4], irrespective of financial gain -- something which can sometimes be detrimental to one's longterm health. Miller sacrificed many of his later years to a cause worth fighting for. This is what we ought to remember him for. Miller was - and always will be - a FOSS hero.

May everything you fought for be fulfilled, Mr. Miller. I already miss you. ?

Just talk

Source URL: <http://www.tuxmachines.org/node/112009>

Links:

[1] <http://www.tuxmachines.org/taxonomy/term/68>

[2] <https://www.linux.com/news/microsofts-men-black-kill-florida-open-standards-legislation>

[3] <https://www.youtube.com/user/roblimo>

[4] https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Do_the_Right_Thing