Gaming: Rise of the Tomb Raider [2]

Over the last weekend I have finally finished The Rise of the Tomb Raider. As I wrote exactly 4 month ago when I started the game, I am a complete newby to these kind of games, and was blown away by the visual quality and great gameplay.

Competition: Win a Steam key for Nimbatus - The Space Drone Constructor [3]

Someone told me people like to win Steam keys? Is that right? Well, you're in for a chance to win a Steam key for Nimbatus - The Space Drone Constructor before it enters Early Access next month.

Airmen is an online shooter where you build your own airship with friends, we have keys to give away [4]

What's that, more Steam keys to give away? You got that right. This time it's a little different, as the steampunk airship first-person shooter Airmen [Steam] has a hidden Linux version on Steam.

- Jet-combat game Hyperspace Dogfights has a free content update that's now out [5]

Hyperspace Dogfights is a really intense and rather good jet-combat game available on Linux, it just had a juicy content update today.

The "Realspace" update adds in quite a lot including: 6 new active item, 11 new weapons and 30 new passive items, gamepad support, item tooltips, the ability to change the color of your jet's reticle and a few more other quality of life updates to improve the game.

- The rather good downhill freeriding game Descenders is getting a replay mode and more tricks soon [6]

For those who like your extreme sports, Descenders is a pretty good Early Access game that's due to expand again soon with some more updates.

The first, due next week on September 18th, is going to add in a replay mode for all those times you end up bailing-out and think it was so hilarious that you wish to watch it again.

- Puzzle horror game COLINA: Legacy now available on Linux [7]

COLINA: Legacy [Official Site] from Chance6 Studios is a surprisingly well put together horror experience that's now available on Linux.

- Dark Turn-based RPG 'Deep Sky Derelicts' releasing September 26th, Linux version will be available then [8]

Deep Sky Derelicts is a pretty great looking dark turn-based RPG from Snowhound Games and 1C Company. They've announced that it's going to leave Early Access on September 26th, which is when the Linux version will also become available.

- We Were Here Together announced with Linux support, best have a partner ready for it [9]

We Were Here is a series of games that forces players in co-op with walkie-talkies to work together in separate locations, each describing something to the other to help them progress. The third game, We Were Here Together has been announced.
