Tell Us About Your (or Others') GNU/Linux Blogs

By Roy Schestowitz
Created 27/05/2019 - 7:34am
Submitted by Roy Schestowitz on Monday 27th of May 2019 07:34:46 AM Filed under Site News [1]
THE MEDIA online is dying. It's no secret. Not all sorts of media are dying but traditional media struggles to survive. Causes for these have been explained for years if not more than a decade. This won't be the subject of this post.

_Tux Machines_ does not produce a lot of original material. Susan used to publish GNU/Linux reviews (with galleries of screenshots), but other than that we mostly cluster and syndicate news. This has been the case for nearly 15 years (our anniversary is next month).

Each year it feels like mainstream media produces a lot less stories (not just about GNU/Linux but about anything, in general terms). So we're 'mining' more and more RSS feeds, typically of blogs. Do you have a GNU/Linux blog or know one/s you wish to recommend? Let us know in the IRC channel [2] because we always hunt for more news sources, no matter if they're 'mainstream' or not as long as they're credible, reliable, and on topic. [2]
Source URL: http://www.tuxmachines.org/node/124282

Links: