

Open source technology, enabling innovation

By Roy Schestowitz

Created 21/10/2019 - 3:13am

Submitted by Roy Schestowitz on Monday 21st of October 2019 03:13:10 AM Filed under OSS [1]

One of the most exciting projects to come out of the open source revolution is Kubernetes, a tool helping companies running their software on cloud services. It enables them to get the most out of the processing power they're paying for by identifying machines that are being underutilised. So, if the software detects that a machine is not being optimised, it will load it up with another task so it's working as hard as it can.

[2]

OSS

Links:

[1] <http://www.tuxmachines.org/taxonomy/term/72>

[2] <https://www.raconteur.net/technology/open-source-technology>