Canonical Says Ubuntu 16.04 Enters Extended Security Maintenance on April 30th, 2021

By Marius Nestor
Created 12/03/2021 - 8:15pm
Submitted by Marius Nestor on Friday 12th of March 2021 08:15:49 PM Filed under Ubuntu [1]

Released five years ago on April 16th, 2016, the Ubuntu 16.04 LTS (Xenial Xerus) operating system series will reach end of life on April 30th, 2021, when it will enter the Extended Security Maintenance (ESM) support, which is offered by Canonical to companies who want to continue using the OS but need it to remain secure.

Following on the success of the Ubuntu 12.04 LTS (Precise Pangolin) and Ubuntu 14.04 LTS (Trusty Tahr) operating systems,Canonical is kicking off the transition to its Extended Security Maintenance (ESM) commercial package for Ubuntu 16.04 LTS (Xenial Xerus) on April 30th, 2021.

[2]

Source URL: http://www.tuxmachines.org/node/148745

Links: