Audacity is now a Possible Spyware, Remove it ASAP

By Roy Schestowitz
Created 04/07/2021 - 4:41pm
Submitted by Roy Schestowitz on Sunday 4th of July 2021 04:41:00 PM Filed under Software [1]

The famous open source audio manipulation program was acquired by a company named Muse Group two months ago. The same company owns other projects in its portfolio such as Ultimate Guitar (Famous website for Guitar enthusiasts) and MuseScore (Open source music notation software).

Ever since, Audacity has been a heated topic.

The parent company is a multi-national company and it has been trying to start a data-collection mechanism in the software. While Audacity is nothing more than a desktop program, its developers want to make it phone home with various data taken from users' machines.

[2]

Software

Source URL: http://www.tuxmachines.org/node/153021

Links: