LibreOffice 7.3 Alpha1 is ready for testing

By Roy Schestowitz
Created 05/11/2021 - 10:11pm
Submitted by Roy Schestowitz on Friday 5th of November 2021 10:11:45 PM Filed under LibO [1]

LibreOffice 7.3 will be released as final at the beginning of February, 2022 (Check the Release Plan) being LibreOffice 7.3 Alpha1 the first pre-release since the development of version 7.3 started in mid June, 2021. Since then, 4764 commits have been submitted to the code repository and more than 760 bugs were set to FIXED in Bugzilla. Check the release notes to find the new features included in this version of LibreOffice.

LibreOffice 7.3 Alpha1 can be downloaded from here for Linux, MacOS and Windows, and it can be installed alongside the standard version.

In case you find any problem in this pre-release, please report it in Bugzilla (You just need a legit email account in order to create a new account).

[2]

Also: Nine more videos from the LibreOffice Conference 2021 [3]

LibO

Source URL: http://www.tuxmachines.org/node/157600

Links:
[2] https://qa.blog.documentfoundation.org/2021/11/05/libreoffice-7-3-alpha1-is-ready-for-testing/