Strapped for hard disk space? Install one of these small and lightweight Linux distros to make your PC usable again.

Do you have an old PC lying around gathering dust? Would you like to make use of the old small-capacity USB flash drive sitting in your draw? You can reuse your old computer and a USB flash drive by installing a super small Linux distribution on them.

Here are eight of the smallest Linux distros that need almost no space!
GNU Linux

Source URL: http://www.tuxmachines.org/node/160038

Links: