Samsung, Red Hat to Work on Linux Drivers for Future Tech

By Roy Schestowitz
Created 27/06/2022 - 3:12pm
The metaverse is expected to uproot system design as we know it, and Samsung is one of many hardware vendors re-imagining data center infrastructure in preparation for a parallel 3D world.

Samsung is working on new memory technologies that provide faster bandwidth inside hardware for data to travel between CPUs, storage and other computing resources. The company also announced it was partnering with Red Hat to ensure these technologies have Linux compatibility.

[3]

Source URL: http://www.tuxmachines.org/node/166542

Links: