We've suffered two occurrences of downtime within the last 4 days due to loss of electrical service in the area.

There was an outage on Christmas Eve for little over an hour and one this evening of approximately two hours. I guess that dependable service spell is over now and we can expect little downtimes like that from now on. 🙄

UPDATE: Yes, that's right. Less than an hour after this evening's outage was restored, it went out again for another hour.
