Firefox product manager Asa Dotzler said today that Mozilla has formed a partnership with Tylenol. This is in response to the business community after complaints that Mozilla's new "Rapid Release" development cycle will cause headaches for IT managers. So starting today all users who download Firefox 5.0 will also get a coupon for a discount off of Tylenol's "Rapid Release" Gel tablets. Tylenol spokesperson Miya Brainhurtz said "Rapid Release" Gel tablets would go well with the Firefox "Rapid Release" schedule and address any health concerns of IT managers who wish to deploy Firefox within their organizations.
