In case you were wondering why there have been no recent reviews here on Tuxmachines, it was due to the loss of my linux test review system. At this time we are accepting donations from the community to go towards the purchase of new equipment, namely a new motherboard, cpu and memory. If you would like to donate, please click the Donation button located in the right hand side column that will take you to Tuxmachines' paypal page. If the drive is successful, we will post a list of donations in a future Thank You note. So, if you can find it in your heart (and bank book), or have found my site and reviews helpful or interesting, please consider donating to our cause.

UPDATE: It was suggested it might help things if a goal and progress were posted. I apologize but I was not able to get the ipn to work for the drupal module. So, we're stuck with manual input.

I've set our goal at 450USD for the Asus A8V, AMD64 cpu and kingston memory. So far we've received $297.

Donations so far are:

$20 from Texstar

$5 from justpnut

$20 from jan

$10 from ramonf

$20 from Wolvix

$25 from mclfn

$20 from chrishopp

$27 from whmax

$10 from dlray

$25 from anonymous

$20 from laufik

$20 from fewclues

$50 from on-disk
