West Point's motto is "Duty, Honor, Country." I graduated in 1993. Why did a former Army Officer end up at Red Hat?

Red Hat is an "Open Source Software Company". In order to work here, you have to understand those four words.

Software. The world is run on Software now. There are more computers in your life than you are aware of. You carry one in your pocket. One wakes you up in the morning. One runs your coffee maker, another your oven. Your car has multiple computers in them. But computers do nothing without software.
