

Great Expectations for Linux in 2013

By srlinuxx

Created 03/01/2013 - 11:47pm

Submitted by srlinuxx on Thursday 3rd of January 2013 11:47:11 PM Filed under Linux [1]

Well another holiday season has come and gone, leaving more than a few jangled nerves and expanded waistlines in its wake.

Holiday pressures are bad enough by themselves, of course, but Canonical's splashy and yet profoundly confusing Wednesday announcement so soon afterward hasn't exactly helped.

Yes, it's Ubuntu for phones, but it isn't the same as the Ubuntu for Android you've been expecting for almost a year! Sure, makes perfect sense!

Oof, it's going to take more than a few triple Tequila Tux cocktails to bring back Linux Girl's hitherto cheerful post-holiday mood.

What May Come

Anyhoo, leaving all that Ubuntu wackiness aside for the moment -- Linux Girl knows she can't avoid discussing it, but will save it for another day -- it's time to look at the big picture.

This is the start of a momentous new year, after all, and as such Linux bloggers -- like so many others around the world -- have been forming their hopes for what may come over the next 12 months.

Ready for an obfuscation-free look at the future? Then relax, sit back and read on.

rest here [2]

Linux

Source URL: <http://www.tuxmachines.org/node/59304>

Links:

[1] <http://www.tuxmachines.org/taxonomy/term/63>

[2] <http://www.linuxinsider.com/story/Great-Expectations-for-Linux-in-2013-76999.html>