We hope you are as excited about this as we are. After a year of hard work, improvements and testing since the release of version 12.0, we are delighted to announce the first release candidate of the upcoming XBMC 13.0, codenamed ?Gotham?. The past year we have kept you informed with our monthly blog posts of all the exciting new features added to this upcoming release. Now, let?s review a few of those features we?re particularly excited about.
