Samsung has released a Tizen smart watch in the form of the Samsung Gear 2, but now, according to sources in CNET, the Korean hardware manufacturer is due to launch their own Android wear offering next week at Google's developer conference, Google I/O.

So why release Tizen and Android? Being a Tizen site we would prefer dearest Samsung to only release Tizen from now till the end of time, but the fact is that Android and Android wear is an immediate revenue stream that Samsung does not want to miss out on.
