

KDE Plasma 5.9 Released, 5.10 Previewed; Steam Machines RIP

By Roy Schestowitz

Created 01/02/2017 - 10:00am

Submitted by Roy Schestowitz on Wednesday 1st of February 2017 10:00:12 AM Filed under -s [1]

Jonathan Riddell announced for the KDE team the arrival of Plasma 5.9, the next big update to the desktop family. This release brings some new features such as Global Menu and a new network configuration module. And if that wasn't enough KDE for you, Eike Hein blogged of some of the goodies being cooked up for 5.10. The Register reported on a bug in Cryptkeeper that triggered its removal from Debian, other distros are waiting for upstream fixes. Steven J. Vaughan-Nichols said Linux is the right choice for those who appreciate a modicum of privacy and Mairin Duffy said today to come join in the Fedora IRC chats.

[2]

-s

---

Source URL: <http://www.tuxmachines.org/node/98151>

Links:

[1] <http://www.tuxmachines.org/taxonomy/term/102>

[2] <http://ostatic.com/blog/kde-plasma-5-9-released-5-10-previewed-steam-machines-rip>